GALAXY CLASS

This term in class we have been carrying on with our “Digging the past” topic. We have finished our papier-mâché dinosaur eggs and they are now on display in our class, with the dinosaur props from our sensory story and our Rainbow fish we made for World book Day.

The class have also finished their wall display for this term. We based it on a caveman's cave. Learners made pieces for the display. The learners added handprints, sensory dinosaur art, dinosaur footprints in clay, and a dinosaur egg. The display has sensory elements for the learners to explore like felt leaves, sticks for the fire and sensory trees.

The learners have also enjoyed making dinosaur footprint biscuits and we made our own bread rolls, as they would have been made in the past, following an old recipe! We have been enjoying music from different eras in body percussion and music massage as well. Everything from Singing in the rain by Gene Kelly to We will rock you by Queen. Have a great weekend everyone!

College students in Phoenix Class have been given the challenge to make money!!! They have been given £20.00 in their groups and have until the week before we break up to make that £20 into as much as they can. Some students are making coffee and cake and selling it to the staff, some have an adorable rabbit to name, some have a raffle. So if you see these enterprises around the school please support with your 50p or £1.00, we are very excited to see how much they can make!!!

Thank you.
