PHOENIX CLASS NEWS

Phoenix Class Embrace All Things Gothic!

This term, Phoenix Class have been diving deep into the fascinating world of Gothic literature.

Our core text has been Frankenstein, which has sparked lively and thoughtful discussions about the novel's themes, characters, and enduring influence. Learners have shown impressive insight as they explored ideas around creation, identity, and what it truly means to be "monstrous."

Our creativity didn't stop at reading. Pupils had the opportunity to design and build their own Gothic diorama scenes, resulting in some wonderfully atmospheric—and delightfully dark—creations! The imagination and attention to detail on display were truly remarkable.

Beyond the classroom, several learners have been taking steps into the world of work. With the invaluable support of Lisa, they have successfully secured regular work-experience placements, successfully negotiated interviews and secured regular work-experience placements. This has provided a fantastic opportunity to grow in confidence, develop new skills, and explore future career pathways. They have also the opportunity to ask question about what different jobs entail when visitors have come in to share their experiences.

It has been an exciting and inspiring term for Phoenix Class, both academically and beyond. We look forward to seeing what they achieve next!
